Mendenhall's plan to send federal troops to Logan Valley. He said he was making the statement to prevent civil war in West Virginia and to lend aid to the United States government.

Mr. Mendenhall, however, has not yet taken the step of ordering the federal troops to Logan Valley. He has ordered the federal troops to stop at Harpersburg, 10:30 p. m. to drive off the three negroes who had been riding on the road. One of the negroes was a reverend, and the other two were a colored man and woman. The colored man was shot and killed.

The men now assembled from Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia, to assist the federal troops, will be utterly unable to repel "Because of the imminent danger of great loss of life if there is a breakdown between the federal army and citizens and the armed insurgents," said Governor McEnany, "and believing it is imperative that the lives and property of our citizens be protected."

Mr. Lewis said his statement was prompted by one of the letters in which the Governor declared circumstances connected with the recent rioting in New Orleans. The State indicated Mr. Lewis "has not made a large contribution in trying to bring about peace in Louisiana or aid the authorities in suppressing" demands of those authorities.

"Before the police could be called the tramps climbed aboard an engine car and fled," he said. "I believe they will not ride far, but drop off in the desert. Needless to say, no further action will be taken as consequence."

"The first stop in the trouble some country was at a place called approximately 100 miles from the border and the letter prepared by the group was to be sent to disperse, return to their homes and place the mines in operation."
"After a number of conference it was declared members of the band would take the orders of national government. When the liquor was delivered and they had received their money, other members of the band would meet themselves as Federal officials, would seize the liquor and make the same into a party ranging up to $2000 to escape/arrest. Then the operation would be repeated many times."
It was also stated that Adams had been shot, as rumored in Juarez, but he still on his ranch at Canutillo Durango, according to Col. Francisco Garcia, a member of the President's cabinet. Adams is in Oregon's staff who arrived in Juarez today. Reports that Villa had fled to Parral for protection are also being received. LONG TERM INVESTMENTS

As has been pointed out frequently in the Wall Street Journal, it is highly advisable for investors to take advantage of the good long-term bonds that are now available, for the reason that the expected improvement in general conditions will undoubtedly bring about lower rates for long term money with a consequent enhancement in the market value of long term bonds.

BY CHAPIN HALL

The week opened with a better tone than that which marked the close of the preceding period, and in spite of the hot weather there was fair, best displayed in many directions.

Heavy Sunday advertising in the Times served to inform most of the retail establishments with enthusiasm buyers apparently well supplied with cash.

Several new and important bond issues were announced, and salesmen found their public receptive.

The Los Angeles Stock Exchange entered upon its final week in the alley quarters which has been its home for many years. The gavel will fall for the last time there on Friday noon and next Tuesday the exchange will reopen in its well equipped new home on South Spring street.

The feature of the market was the excellent position of Goodyear preferred, which registered a net gain for the day of three points, opening at $2.00 and selling steadily up to a strong close at $5.00 with no offerings.

Oil was still weak, and the probability of a strike of drillers and field men, which the news media have been so effective on Thursday did not serve to stimulate the market.

Oil men are agreed that if this strike is to be called it could not be at a more opportune time than the present. Prices levels are low and there already a number of men out of employment. A readjustment of wage scales is inevitable, and the effect of such a move now with less inconvenience than later.

There seems no doubt that present prices of many of the oil stocks are lower than is justified by conditions or book values, and good judges think that the market is nearing the end of the major decline in securities and that many stocks have reached a point that makes them appear attractive.

Basic conditions are slowly improving and reports from centers of production and distribution indicate returning confidence with more contracts being placed for future delivery and less hand to mouth buying.

The Herald stock letter yesterday reported that the stock market more active than it was in July and slightly busier than it was in June, although the unevenness of conditions in that industry is displayed by sharp competition for orders and rapid declines of the price front.

Railroad car loadings in the second week of August were larger than they were in any week of the last spring or any preceding week of this summer, an item worth recording, even though the total of 23,234,490 cars loaded from January 1 to August 11 was 12.4 per cent less than it was in the corresponding 1920 time.

The bank position, which will be the bulwark of definite industrial and trade expansion when it comes, continues from week to week to gain in animation of reserves and by liquidation of loans during the present season of heavy strain, equally on account of agricultural needs.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Two additions have been made to the staff of the Los Angeles office of Blair & Co. A. W. Tausler, formerly with Reeder & Co. of New York, will have charge of the trading department, and Melvin H. Haas is a newly appointed salesman. Mr. Haas has been assistant secretary of the Omaha Trust Company for some time.

SOUTH DAKOTA ISSUE.

Solidier bonds to the amount of $4,000,000 have just been issued by the State of South Dakota. The bonds bear 6 per cent interest and will be retired by a sinking fund at the end of twenty years. The local office of the Guaranty Company of New York reports a good reception for these bonds and believes that the low yield ratio of South Dakota and the sinking fund feature make them especially attractive to investors in State securities.

The bonds have been priced at 102.95 and interest to yield about 5 1/2 per cent. They are exempt from all Federal taxes and are legal investments for savings banks and trust companies in California and many other States.

RECLAMATION BONDS.

A yield of 7 per cent and complete exemption from Federal income taxes are the principal features of a $697,000 issue of Reclamation District No. 784, Yuba County, 6 per cent serial bonds that were put on the local market yesterday by Hunter, Dulin & Co., and Girvin & Miller.

This reclamation district is the medium whereby 19,380 acres have been improved by the construction of a levee system. This project is to be financed through the present issue, which represents an average debt per acre of about $137, compared with a recent appraisal at the average rate of about $163 per acre. This debt per acre is not a debt due in any one year, but one which is paid off in fixed annual installments in the years 1930 to 1937.

Bond interest and principal are payable with money derived through the annual collection of a portion of the assessment which has been levied on all land in the district and which is a recorded lien against all mortgages.

Pending legislation that is apt to do away with the tax exemption features of such securities makes these tax exempt bonds of high yield especially attractive, in the opinion of the underwriters.

BOND SALE.

A public sale of $750,000 Pasadena school district 5 1/2 per cent serial bonds held yesterday resulted in Blyth, Witter & Co. and the Harris Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago being the successful bidders. These firms offered a premium of $1100. The bonds are to mature serially from Aug. 1, 1932 to Feb. 1, 1944.

Offers were also received from the Citizens National Bank of a premium of $4737, and from the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank, Hunter, Dulin & Co., and Cyrus Peirce & Co. of $2225.

KEYSTONE STEEL COMPANY.

A $15,000,000 issue of first mortgage twenty-year 5 per cent bonds of the Keystone Steel and Wire Company was offered yesterday by a syndicate headed by Dillon, Read & Company of Chicago. Local members of the syndicate are Truckee & Lewis, Bond, Goldwin & Truckee, and Blyth, Witter & Co. The bonds are being sold for $100.00.

bonds are being sold for 98 1/2 and interest to net the investor a yield of 5 1/2 per cent.

The issue is noncallable for the first ten years and is callable thereafter by lot, 1-10 of the amount outstanding to be called in yearly at 107 1/2. Net earnings of the company for 1920 amounted to $694,000 or 3 1/2 times interest charges including this issue.

The business of the Keystone Steel and Wire Company is chiefly the manufacture of woven wire fence, used mainly throughout the Middle West and southern farming districts, besides a considerable export trade. The company's plant is located in Peoria, Ill.

NEW MUNICIPAL.

The bond department of the Citizens National Bank bid successful yesterday for three new municipal issues: a $150,000 Whittier 6 per cent offering for which a premium of $2000 was paid; a $45,000 Clearwater school district issue, premium $400, and an $18,500 La Cressa school district 5 1/2; premium $225.

ENGLAND'S BEST.

Sir D. Drummond Fraser, K.C.E., who is considered the greatest expert on international finance in England, has consented to appear before the convention of the American Bankers' Association, to be held in Los Angeles, October 2 to 7, inclusive, according to an announcement by Marco H. Hellman.

Sir Drummond is the organizer of the plan for international credits which engaged so much attention at the Paris Peace Conference. He is expected to speak to the visiting bankers on the working out of his plan and its effect upon the credits of those European countries which have been the victims of the war, were unable to purchase food stuffs and raw materials in the usual media of exchange.

It is well known that at the close of the war, with the currency of most continental nations at a ruinous discount, the old methods of barter were again brought into play to meet the pressing needs of the day for the bare necessities of life. To take this primitive method of exchange and make it into the intricacies of modern civilization, taxed to the utmost the ingenuity of those interested in the recovery of Europe, and make it a part of the Maynard's findings, written for this Times.—(Editor.)

It is the most natural thing in the world, I suppose, that after one returns from a trip of the nature of the one I have just completed, that he should express an opinion on the situation in general for the business situation in this country, but this is not true. I might as well state at the outset that I absorbed from every quarter all of the information that I deemed valuable, and now I require the pressure of questions from the man interested in some particular angle of my story to produce the material that will be of the greatest use to him.

Were I to attempt to answer the question, "How's business?" I would say that depends on two things mainly. First, that there has been a leader in a community to call people's attention to the course they must pursue in the short and least painful route to normalcy. There has been such a degree of intelligence in these communities with a leader-ship that would permit a deviation to recognize the truth of the situation and then have a self-maintaining desire to pursue the proper course without being deflected into channels that will destroy the productive good the course might contain.

WILL LIBERTY'S COME BACK?

Investment experts are constantly asked by people who have not studied the history of interest rates whether or not Liberty Bonds will return to par. Politicians and some business men have suggested various methods of bringing these bonds back to par. Blyth, Witter & Co. have just issued a general distribution booklet, which goes into these questions very thoroughly.

There is a discussion of the history of bond prices and interest rates from 1860 to date, which is accompanied by charts.

Another interesting chart shows the trend of Liberty Bond prices in comparison with the average price of forty bonds capitalized on a 4 per cent basis and covering the years 1916 to 1921.

In order to enable the public to determine the present tendency of rates another chart is introduced showing the Federal reserve ratio during the years 1920-21, and the rapid decline in rediscunts during the present year.

In conclusion there are suggestions which are calculated to aid the investor in the solution of his present investment problems.

DIVIDENDS.

Books will close tomorrow preceding payment on September 15 of a San Joaquin Light and Power preferred dividend of $1.50 per share. Also for the same rate and time on the California Packing Corporation. Victor Oil Company will pay a dividend of 1 cent per share on September 1 to stockholders of record.

BY ALEXANDER DANA NOYES, Financial Editor New York "Times."

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The advance which occurred on the stock exchange was today irregularly distributed and was interrupted by the frequent reactions caused by the transparent attacks by professional speculators on certain groups of stocks. In the end there were both net gains and net losses, but the advances were more numerous and plainly indicated the tendency of the market to move in the direction of particular interest were not the movement of stocks, but the rather remarkable series of railway earnings reported for July and the excited cotton market.

All of the railway reports in course of publication are showing the same remarkable increase in July net earnings over 1920, as had already been shown in the Pennsylvania and the New York Central. Against the increase of $4,500,000 and $6,500,000, respectively, the increase of the Pennsylvania and the New York Central was $4,500,000 and $6,500,000, respectively.

Today's further rise in cotton, bringing the price some 22 per cent above that of a week ago, and 34 per cent above the final July price, probably reflected in equal measure the trader's idea of a much lower government estimate on the crop next Thursday, and the growing impression that the price has lately been out of line with actual conditions. A question of particular interest, in case the recovery goes further, is whether the purchases by consumers will be checked or stimulated by it.

AROUND THE CIRCLE.

Los Angeles Economist Sizes Up Conditions Throughout United States; Answers Question: "How's Business?"

Interviewing and studying days and riding Pullman nights has been the program of L. M. Maynard, whom the Citizens National Bank sent around the United States for the purpose of connecting with first-hand information sources and studying commercial and industrial conditions. Here are the findings of Mr. Maynard's findings, written for this Times.—(Editor.)

It is the most natural thing in the world, I suppose, that after one returns from a trip of the nature of the one I have just completed, that he should express an opinion on the situation in general for the business situation in this country, but this is not true. I might as well state at the outset that I absorbed from every quarter all of the information that I deemed valuable, and now I require the pressure of questions from the man interested in some particular angle of my story to produce the material that will be of the greatest use to him.

Were I to attempt to answer the question, "How's business?" I would say that depends on two things mainly. First, that there has been a leader in a community to call people's attention to the course they must pursue in the short and least painful route to normalcy. There has been such a degree of intelligence in these communities with a leader-ship that would permit a deviation to recognize the truth of the situation and then have a self-maintaining desire to pursue the proper course without being deflected into channels that will destroy the productive good the course might contain.

CATTLE AND COTTON.

To illustrate my point, when I arrived in Kansas City I had the pleasure of meeting one of the biggest cattle men shipping stock into Kansas City, and the natural question which the agent of that particular time prompted me to ask was, "What are you doing here?" This question was legitimate, because it was the day before the opening of the $10,000,000 cattle pool offices in which Mr. McClure is president. This cattle man told me that he was not there on account of the cattle pool, but he said, "I am bringing my own cattle to market and, furthermore, I am riding my range horseback instead of spending my time in cities taking possession." I went on and found this condition true entirely around the country.

I found in the South that the cotton growers who lived in a community where there was a leader who was a thinker, when he came to the point of borrowing money to put in his 1921 crop, he was asked why he wanted so much money, and was told that he could have money for seed and for legitimate normal requirements, but he must work himself and hire less labor. After quite a careful tabulation of figures, I found that the proportion which these figures yielded was that where the farmer was a thinker, he was borrowing $10 this year, and had instead of attempting to use the methods adaptable to vast acreage for the planting and cultivation of crops, the forty, sixty and eighty-acre farmer is using mules, and father, mother, son and daughter are working the fields. I find this condition has reflected very materially in the attendance to picnics and county fairs, in the South particularly.

DIVERSIFIED CROPS.

One experience I had showed that this condition was coming to our very doors. I stopped in a rather important town in Arizona, a banker I wanted to see was engaged in conversation with a man I took to be a rancher. The banker recognized me and said, "What can I do for you?" My answer was, "How's business?" and he said, "Well, here and I will tell you. Here is a man," said the banker, who felt very much hurt mentally and financially at the decline in the price of cotton. He felt he was broke and that there was no help for him unless he could borrow more money. "I told him how he could get it," I told him that I would loan him enough money to buy his seed and keep him for a reasonable length of time. Then I wanted him to get a couple of three good dairy cows and out of his sixty-five-acre place he was to take five acres and diversify a crop on that for his own consumption and put the balance into cotton. He did this, and instead of hiring help he has done the work himself. Now this real producer has a balance in the bank today which his little dairy has made for him. He said to me that there were a few ranchers in his section who have listened to that kind of advice, and that they were going to save that section from disaster; that they were going to pull through in sound condition and that they were ahead of the game.

UNITED STATES OF BRAZIL

Twenty-year 8% (Non-Callable) External Gold Bonds.
Dated June 1, 1921 Interest payable June 1 and December 1 Due June 1, 1941

Principal and interest payable in New York City in United States gold coin at the office of Dillon Read & Co., fiscal agents of Brazil in the United States. Coupon bonds of $1000 and $500 denominations registrable as to principal. Exempt from all Brazilian taxes, present or future.

The Bonds are not callable in whole or in part.

As a sinking fund, the Brazilian government agrees to provide a sum sufficient to buy $325,000,000 amount of bonds semi-annual during the life of the loan, which payments will be applied by Dillon, Read & Co., to the purchase of bonds in the market at or below 105 and accrued interest. Any balance unexpended at the end of six months to the Brazilian government.

DIRECT LIEN OF GOVERNMENT TAXES. These bonds, as follows, are the remaining offering of a loan of $50,000,000, of which $25,000,000 were sold in the United States in May, 1921. They will be direct obligation of the United States of Brazil, and will be specifically secured by a first charge on the consumption tax (Consumo) and stamp tax (Sello), which yielded approximately $58,963,000 in 1920, and according to estimates will yield $60,000,000 in 1921; also by a second charge on the government's receipts from customs duties. The total receipts from all the above taxes in 1920 were approximately $127,759,000, on part of which there was a prior charge amounting to $4,035,000. Receipts from the above taxes are pledged by the government to secure the total of $50,000,000 twenty-year 8% gold bonds, due June 1, 1941, of which the present issue forms a part.

PURPOSE. The proceeds of this loan are to be employed in part for the purchase of the United States of materials required by the government.

DEBT. On December 31, 1920, the national debt of Brazil, both external and internal (converted to dollars at par of exchange) was approximately $1,000,000,000, of which $565,000,000 were external. A large part of this debt was incurred for the construction of government railways, steamships and other revenue-producing undertakings. On the basis of the latest estimate of population, this represents a total indebtedness of only about $33 per capita and carries an annual per capita charge of $1.10. These figures are exceptionally low in comparison with those for the principal countries of the world.

The twenty year 8% gold bonds due June 1, 1941, are the only bonds of the Brazilian government issued in the United States, previous Brazilian external loans having been issued in London and Paris.

NATURAL WEALTH. The area of Brazil is 3,300,000 square miles, covering half of South America, is approximately equal to the combined area of continental United States, the United Kingdom and France. Its population of approximately 30,000,000 persons is half the total population of the South American continent. Brazil has vast natural wealth and the increasing investment of foreign and local capital is rapidly bringing out the nation's resources. Brazil is said to contain the world's greatest reserves of timber and iron ore, and has large deposits of their essential materials. It produces 70% of the world's coffee, and supplies some of the finest grades of rubber which come to be grown in the east.

FOREIGN TRADE. The volume of Brazil's foreign trade has increased rapidly and the balance in favor of exports increased from $52,000,000 in 1911 to $211,000,000 in 1919. Exports in 1920 were larger in volume than in any previous year, although the total value was less than in 1919 on account of the general fall in the commodity prices. The United States is Brazil's best customer, supplying about 48% of the imports and taking about 42% of the exports. Coffee makes up about 30% of Brazil's exports at the present time, and of this the United States has been taking about one-half in recent years. The Central European nations are now purchasing coffee in increasing quantity. Other exports are rubber, cocoa, meat, tobacco and sugar. The largest packing plant in South America has recently been completed in Brazil.

All amounts shown above indicating revenues and trade have been converted into dollars at the rate of 25 cents per milreis.

We offer the above bonds for delivery when, as and if issued and received by us, subject to the approval of local proceedings by counsel.

Price 98 1/2 and interest. To net about 8.15%.

This Year's Income!

You May Still Make It Bigger by Thousands With a Small Investment in—

The thing that makes Optimo different from any other oil proposition is

SPEED

It got off with a speedy start—for we saw a big opportunity in the rich Breckenridge, Texas, field, and bought our acreage quick! And just as swiftly we started Well No. 1—the first of the five we intend to drill. We didn't wait to raise capital for drilling. We had the money ourselves and we put it up to get things moving fast. That's the Foster way of going after oil!

Spoke Rockwell—our driller—has caught our idea, exactly. He drilled the big 1400 barrel Senoj gusher, which is less than 1,000 feet from our well. He's known as a fast driller, but he is determined to break all Breckenridge records by completing Optimo Well No. 1 before September 15.

You buy Optimo now. Within forty-five days after Optimo Well No. 1 comes in you will begin to receive your share of the profits with clear sailing.

So that, though 1921 is more than half gone already, you may easily increase your year's income by thousands!

ONLY 600 UNITS Therefore Striking Oil with Optimo Means Big Money for Owners

It means big money because there are only 600 units all told to share in all the oil the Optimo syndicate gets from all its wells. Even if the average yield from five wells is 600 barrels, your monthly income from one $100 unit will be $100!

But 600 barrels per well is a ridiculously conservative estimate, for every one of Optimo's wells will be drilled in Stephens County, Texas—famous for its TEN THOUSAND BARREL WELLS. It's the county that right now is supplying one-seventh of the total output of oil in America! Optimo looked so good to the Foster's, that they put up a large sum of their money to get it going. It looked so good to E. A. Landreth Company, oil producers, that they, too, bought heavily. Optimo looks good to every shrewd oil investor because it's different. You become an oil owner—not a certificate holder. You buy into an oil man's genuine production enterprise—not a promoter's bubble.

Our First Lease—five acres—southwest of Breckenridge—in the heart of a score of heavy producers—where the wells are big and stand up big. Optimo Well No. 1 is on Lease No. 1 and has already passed the 1350 foot mark.

Our second lease—forty acres—is northeast of Breckenridge.

The Foster drill well fast—OPTIMO is drilling below 1350 feet today.

"I have $50,000 tucked away in trust" said a Los Angeles business man to a friend recently. "I am not going to take any chances by placing my eggs all in one basket," he continued. "Adversity can strike a man suddenly in any one of a thousand ways, and I want absolute financial protection for my family and myself. I believe that every business man should protect his dependents with a trust of this type, and I understand that thousands have made such an arrangement."

The "living trust" is the very last word in insurance against poverty, business adversity, ill-health or accident. It is the setting aside of a portion of your estate under a form of trust agreement NOW for the benefit of your family and yourself. The trust can be made revocable. In fact, you can dictate the terms.

Let us tell you about the supreme advantages of this modern "anchor to windward."

WOULD TURN RIVER SOUTH.
Report on Imperial Valley's System of Defenses.

Drastic Change of Policy and Prompt Action Urged.

District Board Rapped for Its Procrastination.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

CALEXICO, Aug. 29.—To afford protection for Imperial Valley until such time as the Colorado River is controlled by dams in its upper reaches, H. S. (Casey) Abbott, in a report on the valley's defensive system, states that immediate action should be taken to turn the river south in the territory east of the Big Bend country. "The effect of the river breaking over the crest of its cone and coming north," the report states, "should be fully realized so far as the coming year is concerned and the knowledge which we have now taken of the situation."

"There is no question as to what must be done," the report concludes, "unless the valley is to revert to the same condition which existed in 1905 and 1906. There must be a drastic change of policy on the part of the district board; a definite and progressive plan of river control and training adopted; politics and personal ambition completely eliminated and a close co-ordination between the board and the manager established and maintained in order that the plans adopted be carried out and that every seasonal change in the river condition be taken advantage of. This and immediate work are all that can help Imperial Valley."

The report covers in detail the defensive system of Imperial Valley and is elaborately illustrated with maps and photographs, most of the latter being taken from the lower reaches of the river from an airplane.

Dealing with the history of water development in Imperial Valley and describing the conditions that have had to be met, the report says that if a definite protective policy had been adopted when the need for a levee first arose, Imperial Valley would not now be facing the crisis with which it has had to contend for the past ten years, and in a large measure would have saved the loss of money through depreciation of values and also in a large measure the constant expense of fighting the river at flood time each year.

MISTAKES OF THE PAST.

The report declares the present protective system to be a failure and says that much is to be done to correct the mistakes of the past.

Because of the tendency of the river to deposit silt and build up its banks, the report says, it is necessary to hold the river in as narrow a channel as is commensurate with the maximum flow of the river. This condition, the report says, has been well met down to a point about one mile north of C. D. Junction. Below that point, with the exception of a short distance, the river has been allowed to meander within a control area of from two to three miles wide and the result has been expensive and at times dangerous.

Ockerson levee, according to the report, is only temporary and must be rebuilt and so realigned as to straighten out the river and confine it to a channel not over 1,500 feet wide. "A channel of this width," Mr. Abbott says, "will more than take care of all the water the Colorado River and Gila River, combined, can send out."

Referring to the Volcano Lake Basin the report says: "The building up by the Colorado River of its channel banks, with no definite confinement in the way of rip-rapped levees was the original cause of its slipping off the top of the cone which it had constructed, and taking advantage of the Bee River Basin, changed its direction from south to west. What originally happened in the case of the Colorado River is now happening, or has happened, to Bee River. It, in turn, has built up its banks and raised its bed until the bottom of the river undoubtedly is above the sea level to a distance of five miles to the south, and threatens to top the Volcano Lake levee to the west."

Dealing with the causes of elimination of Volcano Lake as a controlling factor the report states that the siltation of the basin discredited and obliterated the value of Volcano Lake levee. "The raising of this levee in 1915 and again in 1914," the report continues, "and the tracking and rip-rapping was only a temporary expedient and this year it has again been discounted as it was in 1914."

BATAQUES SAG PROBLEM.

The report refers to the Bataques Sag, a flat stretch of country north of the Sals levee, as one of the serious problems for the coming year, unless the river is diverted from Bee River and sent south into the Pescador Basin. New River, the report says, would not be able to hold all the water in case of a break in the levee, and there would be a diversion of flood water and consequent damage in the west side of Imperial Valley north of the boundary line.

"This year," the report says, "Bee River broke over the crest of its cone to the north, about fifteen miles east of Volcano Lake levee, shortened its channel five miles and increased its speed correspondingly. Filling up against the western end of this levee to break through near Thing's Tapon."

The report says there is no chance of river-control beyond the east end of the Big Bend country, and that prompt action must be taken to take advantage of having the Colorado River on a cone and the Bee River on the same cone, with the low country to the south. Otherwise, Mr. Abbott predicts, the coming year, or within two years, the entire Bee River will be diverted into the Pescador Basin, north of its present channel, a condition which would involve the great expenditure of a long levee along the Inter-California Railroad. Every acre of land west of the Volcano Lake levee is a long levee, says the report, this coming year unless the levee is raised and strengthened.

"A policy calling for strengthening the Ockerson levee," says the report, "a short distance each year, will result in the crowding of the river through, and the flood control area will be correspondingly moved farther and farther from the river property until ultimately the river will be held against the Arizona Mesa in a narrow channel leading directly to the Gulf."

"A procrastinating policy cannot further be pursued," says the report, "and every possible advantage which is given us by time and low water must be used to the fullest extent. Whether we like it or not, we know now that we are fighting a more or less useless fight so far as permanent river control is concerned. Out of

THE "WHITE COAL" OF HIGH SIERRAS.

"Times" Rotogravure to show Source of Power that Turns Wheels of Commerce.

Next Sunday's rotogravure section of The Times will contain a series of interesting photographs showing the source of the "white coal" of commerce that is contributing so much to the industrial progress of the great Southland.

A full page will be devoted to Richard Headrick, champion juvenile swimmer of Southern California, in his many famous swimming stunts.

Peggy Hamilton's fashion page will reflect the latest in fashions. All the latest and most exclusive designs as shown by the leading shops will here be found for the delectation of the women.

All of this is in the last of our splendid eight-page rotogravure section. Don't fail to see it. It's rich.

Ten years we have only had one when the flood was not feared, and that year we had a water shortage.

All this is due to procrastination on the part of the directors, who, if they know conditions, are either wilfully ignorant or most ignorant, and are not capable of realizing and filling the trust which has been imposed upon them. Under the district management I think that very little can be said against any of the engineers, for all of them have recognized the fallacy of the present system, and have wanted to put the river back where it would not endanger the valley, but have been prevented from carrying out their plans through opposition on the board and lack of financing in time by the board."

Use of False Name by Auto Owner is Costly.

When applying for an automobile registration certificate always use your own name. It is dangerous to give an alias.

Joe Walker of 1198 South Olive street will have to serve the next sixty days in the City Jail because he said he was A. M. Hunter when he secured a registration certificate for his automobile. He was sentenced by Police Judge Chambers yesterday.

Police officers who arrested Walker, alias Hunter, told Judge Chambers that the prisoner owns three automobiles and is unable to account for any of the machines. They also presented the evidence of the false registration certificate.

While Walker is serving his sentence the justice state they will investigate his automobiles.

DEMURRER FAILS IN SUIT FOR DIVORCE.

WIFE OF BURBANK BANKER QUOTES LETTER TELLING OF OTHER WOMAN.

A stipulation was entered into in the divorce action of Sarah Elizabeth Scribner against Farnsworth Scribner, Burbank banker, in Judge Hahn's court yesterday, by which a demurrer to the amended complaint was overruled.

Mrs. Scribner quotes one of her husband's letters to her as follows: "Well, I have been having a butterfly life since last Friday. Sunday I went to Redondo again. How ever, I behaved myself with the young lady, as she thought I was a sane man."

Mrs. Scribner charges illicit relationship between her husband and Edna Crane, assistant cashier of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank of Burbank, of which Mr. Scribner is the cashier, and also with Susie Cheague, who was housemaid at the Scribner home until Mrs. Scribner discharged her.

The Scribners were married in 1907 in Toledo, says the complaint, and they have three children.

Mrs. Scribner is denying the charges says the extracts from his letters are misleading, saying he was in the habit of writing diary-letters to his wife.

DEATH TAKES MRS. GERTRUDE EASTMAN.

WAS ONE OF FRIDAY MORNING CLUB FOUNDESS; WIDOW OF FORMER PUBLISHER.

Mrs. Gertrude B. Eastman, pioneer of Los Angeles who, with Mrs. Caroline Severance, helped found the Friday Morning Club here, died Sunday at the Talbot Sanatorium, aged 81 years.

Mrs. Eastman was the widow of Col. Francis A. Eastman, once a Los Angeles publisher, and at the time of his death three years ago, city statistician of Chicago. She came to this city with her husband thirty-three years ago. She was the first vice-president of the Friday Morning Club, of which Mrs. Severance was president.

In Chicago, Mrs. Eastman was chairman of the committee which celebrated the first Memorial Day ever observed in the United States. Mrs. Margaret Martin of 125 South Mariposa street, Mrs. Eastman's sole relative, has a letter from Mrs. Lincoln, widow of President Lincoln, to Mrs. Eastman, commending the latter's work on this committee in behalf of the initial memorial observance which was held at Graceland Cemetery, Chicago.

Before her death Mrs. Eastman was the oldest member of the Friday Morning Club. Arrangements for the funeral had not been completed last night.

ANGELS TAKE NEW START WITH BRIGHT PROSPECTS.

Final Details in Ball Transaction Are Completed and Wrigley Regime Grasps Helm.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Quite a little baseball was enacted in a tall building at Sixth and Spring streets yesterday. It was a short-order transaction, with extremely businesslike dealings, and staged in a severe set of law offices.

William Wrigley, Jr., arrived on the eleventh floor at exactly 11 o'clock. Forty minutes later he emerged from an interior office of the smiling owner of the Los Angeles baseball club, for which he had paid approximately $150,000.

Wrigley was John F. Chance, Cliff Reuman, Charles Weber and George Clark, were on hand and formed what seemed a strangely silent group as they waited in an outer office.

Meantime Ed R. Malar and Dr. E. E. Stone, his business representative, were holding a conference with Wrigley's agents regarding the lease and concessions at Washington Park, in which the Los Angeles and Vernon clubs are jointly interested.

During the conference, a bit of anteroom gossip was to the effect that Malar now holds the Vernon franchise at $150,000, and doesn't care particularly to sell even at that price.

Graveyard connections with the inner chamber developed rumors to the effect that Reuman would insist on retaining his stock, and would also morally fair to all my transactions.

Wrigley for a number of years has aspired to own the Los Angeles franchise, but he came near losing out about three weeks ago. At that time Jack Doyle, Vernon promoter, was a probable purchaser, and had the books of the club. Hal Roach also fancied the franchise, and Tom McCarry and Al Greenwald were in the market for it. But immediate cash required by the club was forthcoming at the psychological moment, and the selling of it was delayed. Meantime, Wrigley learned of conditions, and came through with an offer which Powers would not have been justified in refusing.

NEW BLOOD.

There is every reason to believe Los Angeles will continue to have the time prior to the time set for selling the former Los Angeles franchise, John F. Powers, Frank

FLASHES. THE .. LADY .. OF .. YESTERYEAR.

DANCES SAY SOMETHING. REPERT BALLETS HAS LOTS OF COMEDY AND DRAMA.

As Portrayed by the Star of Today.

By Grace Kingsley.
The Orpheum bill this week reveals Postum, insofar as "there's a reason" why the house deserves to be crowded. You get stung once in a while, to be sure, over there, but not twice or three times in a while, and this week you get a good deal more than your money's worth.

I see the dear old classic ballet bunch are unbending a bit, and putting the flexibility of drama and comedy and characterization into their offerings, and everybody seemed to be as glad of it yesterday as I am in judging from the manner in which they tore the house down at the close of Theodore Bekkeft's dancing act, in which he was assisted by the lovely, graceful and charming Grace Imanova, Sophia Remova and Vera Karinska.

The whole production was notable not only for a fine technique, but also for color, ease and charm. Alexander Ivanoff's leadership and balalaika playing added greatly to the pleasing quality of the production.

Vera Karinska's dying swan visualized somehow a real swan, trieste and drooping, and made you choke a bit when the dear old creature swoons and dies, and Grace Imanova's Dragon Fly was a sensuous, brilliant, irresponsible fly, while Bekkeft's sailor's horripole revealed a real sailor as well as a horripole.

Girl revues we have by the score, but they're giving the matinee girls a treat this week in Ora Munson's "A Lady Revue," in which she has handsome youths sing, dance and look. Miss Munson herself is adorably dainty, winning and graceful.

Wonder if Broadway has seen her, and if so, why they didn't grab her quickly. The act is entirely novel and nicely staged, and the young men's singing has class, in the manner in which it is presented.

We had just wondered a bit how Ed Flanagan would get along with his old pal Neely Edwards, but the jury snapped right into its judgment yesterday.

Lesson in golf is the name of the new act by the new team, and it's a duster. Who ever thought golf would be so interesting?

Without going into jass stuff at all, it's a laugh hit every minute—a sort of an Irving Cobb monologue with comic action obligate. The boys needn't worry. They've got something novel, as well as full class and the maximum of entertainment.

Ed Flanagan wrote it, and it's full of his own peppy wit and genuine drollery.

"Andy Home" is a smart little one-acter nicely played by Jean Adair and her friends.

Ama Rica, in a bicycle act of originality and snap despite it is a bicycle act, holds them in their seats till the end. That's a regular feat, that is, at the Orpheum.

Lady Teen Mel held over from last week, deserves better spot than the comedy on place. Sandy and Jack Jinks continue big hits of their fortnight.

JANE NOVAK STEPS OUT AS BRIGTH STAR.
When a young lady we've seen grow artistically from small parts to big ones, at last becomes a star, we immediately sit at attention.

Such has been our experience in the instance of Jane Novak, for when she stepped out last week in "The Golden Snake," she was on view at Tally's.

Miss Novak is possessed of a great and undeniable charm, all the more seductive, perhaps, because it has so many intangible qualities. So much for personality. Her dramatic expression includes that instinctive responsiveness to mood which we are wont to explain as naturalness.

In "The Golden Snake" she plays two characters, a dance hall girl and a "regular" girl. At first we criticized her dance hall girl as too proper, too innocent, too sweet. But when she really was one of those chemically pure types, existing perhaps chiefly on the screen, we decided that she was right after all.

Miss Novak's moods seem always right, in fact. There is just one moment when we feel a little uneasy with her. That was when she was left alone in the Alaskan cabin, after her lover had been taken away and accused of murder. She was far too calm. However, it is more than likely that some subsequent scene was cut, showing her mounting grief.

"The Golden Snake" misses through having no increasing climax. There are too many characters, too divided an interest, too many rather meaningless flashbacks. The situations too are threadbare—the attempt to steal a man's claim, the fight over it, the shooting of the hero by the villain with the attempt to lay it on somebody else.

However, there is some very fine acting, aside from Miss Novak's. Bert Spottle gave a capital performance of the down-and-out who goes to Alaska to make good, and other parts are played with a sincerity and naturalness which makes them live.

Then, too, despite the triteness of the old story material, there is a certain freshness of attack in the method of handling, that bestows much charm.

T. Roy Barnes Heard From.
If you've been standing first on one foot and then on the other, wondering what has become of T. Roy Barnes, why I can relieve your suspense. He's been doing his best in the mountains of Northern California. That is he is intended to go deer hunting when he left. But he had the disappointment of arriving there fifteen days before the season opened. It seems, as Roscoe Arbuckle remarked, that Mr. Barnes thought it was always the open season on all deer, same as Hollywood deer.

Mr. Barnes begins work today as leading man opposite Wanda Hawley, in the Reelart production, "Too Much Wives."

Camille to be Launched.
If "Camille," with Miss Nazimova as the star, doesn't get away to a flying start, it isn't going to be the fault of Metro. That enterprising firm is planning a reception for the star to follow the private showing of her latest production, which reception will be held early in September at the Ritz-Carlton.

Miss Nazimova has left for New York, where she will join her husband, Charles Bryant, who has been in that city for a week.

Estelle Taylor Here.
News it's understood: The last picture star who has never seen California before, is now in our midst. She is Estelle Taylor of Fox, who appeared by the War Department at New York, and other features.

Miss Taylor is to be cast, in a picture that she has never seen in California before, is now in our midst. She is Estelle Taylor of Fox, who appeared by the War Department at New York, and other features.

"FOOTLIGHTS" GLEAMS.

ELSIE FERGUSON IN STORY OF CHARM AT GRAUMAN'S.

By Edwin Schallert.
All the world's a stage and all the men and women merely players—which may or may not be quoting the occasion of the first showing of Elsie Ferguson's story, "Footlights," at Grauman's Theater. It might be added that some players are better troupers than others and that consequently they sometimes succeed in making good twice over. That, at least, is the case with Elsie Ferguson, as visualized in the picture directed by John Robertson.

For glitter and fascination, with a fine human overtones—"Footlights" is one of the best films of the year. The glamour of the bright lights is in it and you feel their incandescence.

At the same time you are so close to the minds of the people in the story that you can see all the sham and shallow pretense that is often a part of the player's life.

The conclusions you draw are first that an actress with a past generally has that past for a purpose, and second that the public likes to be humbugged. Really, Barnum's celebrated slogan is the theme of Elsie Ferguson's picture.

The plot is close to the well-worn track. But Miss Ferguson has shown skill in cultivating a very fine and artistic border on the edge of that path. There's nothing trite or just-as-was-to-be expected about her plot. Her deceptions, while truly feminine, are as ingeniously clever.

Your pleasant surprise is when Elsie Ferguson, to the great "Toucan actress," reverts to type and becomes once again the homespun daughter of New England, with a perfectly natural sentimentality circling around her ideal of true love.

In a way "Footlights" has much more to offer the woman than for the man, but there is meat in it for both. It has, besides, the quality of art that knows fine restraint, and will therefore appeal to anyone who is in search of the worthier in pictures.

In view of the fact that it takes an actress to portray an actress, I know of nobody who could more adequately fill the role of the country girl who climbs to stardom through deception, than Elsie Ferguson. She is a chamberlain of the screen, skilled to the last degree in sending forth a variety of different impressions yet always retaining the fine traces of womanhood.

As Brett Page, the lover, Reginald Dwyer gives us youth finely tempered, and a handsome verity of expression. Marc McDermott is, as always, one of the perfect actors of the screen. He knows his biggest secrets through his experience. He plays the manager who "discovers" the Russian star.

At last Miss Ferguson has a real picture, directed with finesse. It's worthy of everybody's interest.

A bathing girl Steve that is perfectly confidential, an additional program attraction. It will relax your eyes very nicely.

TENOR PLEASURES WITH IRISH SONG PROGRAM.
The song recital given by Thomas Egan, Irish tenor, assisted by Mme. Lillian Breton, dramatic soprano, at the Philharmonic Auditorium last night, was with the exception of the opening number, "The Star Spangled Banner," one of the best of the season.

Egan's voice is of lyric timber, with a shading that at times suggests a dramatic quality, but that is not his forte. He sings with much feeling.

Breton's number consisted of a group of Irish folk songs and the prayer from "La Tosca" (Puccini).

Many notables will attend the premiere tomorrow night at the Mission Theater of Douglas Fairbanks' "The Three Musketeers."

Those present will include Eileen Percy, Babe Daniels, Betty Compson, Lila Lee, Anna Nazimova, Elton S. Rogers, Lewis of Collins, and Weekly, Katherine MacDonald, Barbara La Marr, Marguerite De La Motte, Gouverneur Morris and others.

Robert Edson of the Fairbanks studio is tending a party for sixteenth birthday celebration of Fred Niblo, director of "The Three Musketeers." Ruth Stonehouse, Katherine Fitzgerald, Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, Irvin Willat and W. W. Rouse and Walter Murphy, among others.

Kinema Casts Spanish.
In Norma Talmadge's drama, "The Sign on the Door," to open next Saturday at the Kinema, the present several novelties in balancing and share with the "Springtime Frivolities," the honors of the show. This springtime thing is an exceptionally good vaudeville musical comedy that is pleasing and melodious.

The Daisies are girls who dance well, and the Avalon Four entertain. Bobby "Uke" Henshaw presents a pleasing act with a number of imitations. Lida McMillan and Bert Snow in a skit, "Contrary," a humorous impossibility, complete the program.

CONTINUOUS 1:40 TO 11:30JUDGE BARS CURIOUS FROM MORALS COURT.
THIRTY-TWO SPECTATORS WHO — FAIL TO HEED WARNING
SENT TO JAIL.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—There will be no more "rubbering" in the Morals Court. Curious persons who are in the habit of spending their idle time in the court listening to spic details of cases before the court will be forced to seek elsewhere for their amusement. Judge Joseph Schulman, who presides over the court, gave the "fans" a severe scolding today. He threatened the spectators with twenty-day jail sentences if they did not spend their leisure time elsewhere.

Today there were thirty-two persons in the court, seeking to get an ear full of the latest scandal of the girls caught in raids of shady hotels; about a runaway wife who was caught living with another man; and about the husband who came unexpectedly and found his wife's lover in the house.

The spectators today failed to heed the warning issued by the judge and they were ordered locked up for two hours. After their stay in the bull pen the spectators were all brought before the judge today to remain.

"This is no place for the curious," he said. "Don't take the law into your own hands. You are brought to the court by the morally corrupting influence of the thing. I want you to go home and think about it."

It has been pointed out that the girls in trouble were not the only ones who were the cause of the trouble. Hereafter only the "fans" who are in the habit of spending their idle time in the court listening to spic details of cases before the court will be forced to seek elsewhere for their amusement.

"The cops are waiting for me day and night; they got my photo off my dresser, but didn't get me, ha, ha," are the words accredited to Clyde Chester Blackwood, age 22 years, in a letter found on his person when he was arrested on a charge of attempting to rob C. A. Ball, 315 West Fifth street, on last August 16. He was held to answer yesterday by Justice Baird.

Some of our flippant flappers seem to think that when a woman's dress is above reproach it is beneath contempt. (Boston Transcript.)

HOLD OLD OFFENDER IN NORTH.
Five-Time Probationer is Charged With Stealing of Film Star's Automobile.

"How do they do it?" This is what Detectives Hickok and Ervan asked yesterday, following the arrest in Eureka of Paul H. Pierce, 30 years of age, who drove into Eureka with an automobile said to have been stolen in this city from Wanda Hawley, the motion-picture star.

The two detectives in charge of the theft bureau of the Automobile Club, and who were responsible for the arrest of Pierce, stated yesterday that he was first arrested early in 1919 and charged with having stolen an automobile. He was given probation.

In March, 1920, he was again arrested for stealing an automobile and driving it to Auburn. He was again convicted and released on probation. On Jan. 8, 1920, Pierce was arrested on a burglary charge in Santa Barbara. He was granted probation.

On Jan. 23, 1920, he was taken into custody for stealing a motorcycle. He was convicted and released on probation. On Feb. 2, 1921, he was again arrested on a similar charge, and again released on probation.

sworn to by Miss Evelyn Edlesten. The jury in Judge McCormick's court took two hours to reach a verdict. The accused man was defended by Attorney Thomas F. White and Alfred Bartlett. A feature of the trial was the attendance of Mrs. Cotter at the side of her husband.

Leaps from Bed and Overpowers Night Intruder.

Leaping from his bed to the back of an intruder, said to have entered his bedroom by way of an open window, Garrett Brown, living in an East Seventh-street rooming-house, early yesterday morning held the stranger until the police arrived. At Central Police Station the man gave the name of Rudolph Manders, 34 years of age. He is held on a burglary charge.

Mr. Brown told the police that he awoke to find Manders in his room searching his belongings. Sprung from the bed he landed on the intruder's back and knocked him out. He then called for the police.

The officers declare they made several purchases from Choeler and that he was doing a large business before being taken into custody.

SOCIETY.

BY VIRGINIA WOODS.

Mrs. Booth Entertains.
Mrs. Willis Booth, who is returning to her home in New York this week, was yesterday hostess at a tea arranged as a courtesy to Mrs. John Percival Jones of New York and Los Angeles and as a farewell compliment to the hostesses who have entertained in her honor. The tea table and the table on the veranda, where punch was served, were decorated with masses of spring flowers.

Romantic Betrothal.

A romantic betrothal of a girl new in Long Beach and a boy in England became known on Sunday at the tea Mrs. Hancock Banning gave in honor of Mrs. John Percival Jones and Mrs. Willis Booth.

The engaged pair are Miss Maitland McKim, formerly of Melbourne, Australia, and John McClellan, Jr., who is on his way here from Cambridge, Eng., to marry Miss McKim. He is also from Melbourne, but has just completed his college course at Cambridge and arrived in New York on the Aquitania a few days ago. The young couple have been engaged a year and a half, but had not expected to marry for at least a year. Miss McKim was visiting in San Francisco several days ago, when she received a cable that he was on his way to America.

She has been in America since November visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Sprout-Boyd of Arizona and Long Beach. Mr. Sprout-Boyd being a noted mining engineer and manager of the Ray Consolidated Mining Company of Arizona. Mr. and Mrs. Sprout-Boyd and their niece, left yesterday for Salt Lake City for a stay of a few days, and may meet Mr. McClellan there. The wedding date will be set after they return to Long Beach the first of next week.

Mrs. McCartney Entertains.
Mrs. Marion Churchill McCartney, who is spending several weeks at Hotel del Coronado with her two children, was honor guest at a dinner party at which Maj. Jefferson Davis entertained at his handsome home in Coronado, formerly the property of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Waldo Chase.

Others at the table were Mrs.

Efficient Housekeeping

By Laura A. Kirkman

STUFFED HADDOCK DINNER.

The average housekeeper has one fish dinner a week—on Friday. But as fish is cheaper than meat, it is excellent economy to have two fish dinners a week. Fish may become just as popular as meat on the table if it is cooked deliciously. The following way of baking haddock is rather a fussy way, but time and trouble are always economy's substitutes. It was made to save money and yet have things just as palatable, we must willingly expend a little extra time. Try the following dinner menu on your family:

Baked Stuffed Haddock a la Pietro

Potato Cake au Gratin

Green Peas

Coffee

Buy a 3½-pound haddock (this will cost somewhere around 8 cents a pound—thus making the entire dish about 30 cents) and have your fish man clean it, remove head and tail, and split it open on the under side.

One hour before you wish to serve it, take it from the refrigerator and cut the two fillets—that is, the two fleshy sides of the fish—away from the long strip of small bones which form the backbone. Remove the head, and which resemble a feather at the tail end; the ribs and this long tail-strip of bones (which run down the inside of the fish) will be left in one solid bony structure when you have cut away the flesh from each side. Now grease a baking-dish, place one of the two fillets in the bottom, sprinkle this long piece of fish with salt and pepper, and place upon it the following stuffing:

Onion-Potato Stuffing for Baked Haddock: Have ready three large boiled and mashed potatoes mixed with 1 medium-sized onion which has been finely minced, then fried until a light brown in a generous lump of butter; add salt and black pepper to suit individual liking. This should be spread on that side of the fillet which was next the bone; the stuffing should stand about an inch high.

Now place the other long fillet on top of this layer of stuffing and pour around the fish, in the pan, a little hot water and melted butter. Put the pan in a hot oven and bake 45 minutes, basting three times with the liquor in the pan. Then remove it from the oven, spread on top of the stuffed fish a layer of brown crumbs moistened with melted butter, and slip the pan back into the oven until the crumbs are brown.

Egg Sauce: Make 1 cup of plain white sauce and add to it 1 hard-boiled egg finely minced. (I have repeatedly given a white-sauce recipe in this column, but if anyone has missed it, I will gladly send it upon receipt of stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Potato Cake au Gratin: Boil 3 large potatoes until tender, then mash them, season with salt, pepper and butter, and add 1 beaten egg. Form this mixture into a mound in an oblong glass baking dish, and bake 40 minutes in a good oven, then remove from oven, cover with finely chopped American cheese, and slip dish back into oven for cheese to melt. Serve at once.

[All ingredients mentioned in Mrs. Kirkman's recipe are available in the "Efficient Housekeeping" department which is carried in these columns in their true and complete form. To get a personal or a printed copy of the recipe, send a stamped and self-addressed envelope to the Editor.]

adorned the tea table and the rest of the house. Mr. and Mrs. Ham left Saturday for the northern part of the State and the Yosemite Valley, where they will spend the rest of the summer.

Home from Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Grigsby, who spent last winter at the Ambassador, have just returned from an extended trip through Canada, visiting the fashionable summer resorts—Glacier, Lake Louise and Banff. On their return they stopped at Victoria and Vancouver, B. C.; Seattle, Portland and Shasta Springs. They arrived at Santa Barbara in time for the yacht races and are now at the Ambassador, but will be at the Bryson later.

At Dinner-Dance.

One of the attractive parties at the dinner-dance at the Hotel Vista del Arroyo on Saturday evening was that at which Miss Virginia Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Albert Phillips of 3813 Portland Place, entertained. Her table was beautifully decorated with a long oblong basket filled with summer flowers that were placed upon a flower-studded runner of asparagus ferns. Her guests were Miss Dorothy Walton, Polly Holbert, Nancy Buchanan, Margaret Pauntierey and Katherine Kuntz, and Messrs. Edward Graham, Henry MacCallister, Buchanan, Charles W. Paddock, William Neff and William Clark. Miss Phillips has been guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. W. Moore for two weeks and left yesterday for Hermosa Beach where her family is spending the summer.

Mrs. Dickinson.

Mrs. Mary T. Dickinson entertained a number of Los Angeles friends at her party at the Vista del Arroyo supper-dance Saturday. The party included Miss Catherine Gledstone, Miss F. R. Hart, Miss Ruth Tinsley, George W. Fringle, Jr., Robinson Locke and Joe Whittier.

At Saratoga.

A marriage of wide interest here that is just being consummated is that of Dr. Robert Lewis Irvine Smith of Pasadena and Miss Margaret Williams, which took place at the home of last Wednesday. Dr. Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. Smith of Los Angeles and is a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ella Gilbert Williams of San Francisco. The ceremony was performed in the garden at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Blaney, the service being read by Dean J. Wilmer Graham of Grace Cathedral in San Francisco. The bride's mother gave her in marriage.

Mrs. Philip Sheridan, daughter-in-law of Gen. Philip Sheridan of Civil War fame, was matron of honor, while Miss Barbara Kirkwood and Miss Marion Kennedy were bridesmaids. Jane and Eleanor Williams were flower girls, while Masters Charles and George Kahn were ring bearers.

Dr. John Philip Stricker was best man and the officiating minister was Rev. W. Sibley, Ronald Ogilvie, Robert C. Porter, U. Fairlie, Arno Lewis, Alfred Post, Philip Paschel and Effingham Sutton.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with veil held with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses.

She is a niece of Mrs. J. S. Huerfano of Pasadena, whom she has often visited. Dr. Smith is one of the prominent physicians of the Crown City and is a graduate of Rush Medical College and the University of Chicago. He served as a major abroad during the World War. They will reside at 423 California street, Pasadena, upon their return from a wedding trip.

For Bride and Groom-elect.

The buffet supper-dance at which Mr. and Mrs. William Putnam Nye of Covina entertained Friday evening in honor of their son, Lieut. Wilbur Sturtevant Nye, U.S.A., and his fiancée, Miss Eliane Griffiths, was enjoyed by a large number of Los Angeles, Pasadena and Covina folk. It was held at the new Masonic Temple, which was elaborately decorated. In line with the hosts and hostesses were Carol Nye, Mr. and Mrs. Charles David Griffiths and Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Olmstead.

The marriage of the young couple is set for September 7 at Holy Trinity church and will be a military wedding. Two officers coming across the continent and two lieutenants stationed here are to take part in the ceremony. At the dance Miss Griffiths wore a gown of old Spanish lace, brought to this country more than a century ago by her ancestors and given to her when she was a baby.

Friday evening Dr. and Mrs. Olmstead are to give a dinner for the couple and the bride party and on Thursday Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips of Covina will give a dancing party for them and for Miss Doreen Jones of Syracuse, N. Y.

WHY DO WRINKLES APPEAR?

(Copyright, 1921, by The Wheeler Studios, Inc.)

Underneath the skin, and supporting it at all points except where there are dimples, is a very fine network of muscles which hold the skin in place and prevent it from sagging or pulling away from the layer of tissue immediately underneath. As time passes, these muscles, like the others in our bodies, become old and at least partially worn out, and at last they are incapable of performing their proper function. It is then that wrinkles appear, for these are nothing more than a fine continuous line of dimples, due to the shortening or weakening of the muscles just beneath the surface of the skin. These wrinkles have been subjected to the greatest strain.

It is for this reason that, in comparatively young men, we often note wrinkles around the eyes or lines about the corners of the mouth, signs that these muscles have been overworked and have, at last, succumbed to the continuous exertion. If the matter is attended to in time it is often possible to eradicate these wrinkles by the use of massage, which restores the muscles to their normal condition. But in older people the muscles are entirely played out, and the hair-line wrinkles make their reappearance, first around the positions of the face which are most generally used—the eyes and the mouth—and then, finally, in the sagging cheeks and lined forehead of advancing age.

CHARIOT RACE.

The players, called Chariots, stand in a large ring, one behind the other, and a foot apart. When the Starter signals, all begin to run at once following the circular course. Each Chariot tries to pass the one in front of him, tagging as he passes; this must be done on the outside of the ring-course, and every Chariot so tagged must drop out of the race. This is not an easy feat, since each Chariot tries at once to tag the foregoing Chariot and to evade the following tagger.

The Starter adds variety to the game by signaling every now and then, "Reverse Chariots!" when all the players must turn around, facing the other way, and running in the opposite direction. This sudden change, which transposes all positions and prevents the Chariots from tagging too rapidly, should be introduced two or three times in the course of the game. The last player is the winner of the game.

In another variation of the Chariot Race, each Chariot tries to tag, not the player immediately before him, but the Chariot in front of that player, and in this form of the game when two players have tagged all the others, and so eliminated them, these two are required to race around the circle, and the one who reaches the starting point first becomes the Chariot Race, the winner of the Chariot Race.

NAVAL BASE AGAIN SOUGHT BY VENICE.

COMMITTEE WORKING TO WIN PORT AT PLAVA DEL REY TO BE ENLARGED.

Venice is to make a strong effort to convince the Federal government that a permanent naval base should be established at Playa del Rey, where the city owns a large stretch of tidelands it has offered to donate to the government in case a home port for naval ships is established.

Proffer of the land was made last June and little has been heard from the department at Washington until recently, when a communication from the office of the Secretary of the Navy said that serious consideration was being given to the project.

In an effort to keep the interest alive and to assist Walter F. Crawford, City Engineer; W. H. Abbott, purchasing agent; and Harry W. Schenker, city designer, who are a committee representing the city of Venice, ten representative citizens of Venice and Santa Monica have been named for appointment. The list includes: Thornton Kinney, president of the Abbot Kinney Company; John D. Harrah, City Trustee; Charles W. Lyon, State Senator; George W. Tompkins, publisher of the Venice Vanguard, and John Dillon, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Venice; William H. Carter, Commissioner of Public Works; Judge Victor R. McClellan, publisher of three beach newspapers, and George Merritt Jones of Ocean Park, Santa Monica.

GOING TO ENCAMPMENT.

Grand Army, Woman's Relief Corps, Prepare for Indianapolis Trip.

Members of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Woman's Relief Corps in this city are making arrangements to attend the fifty-fifth national encampment in Indianapolis, beginning on September 15.

The rate of 1 cent a mile applies only to members of the Grand Army of the Republic, their wives, and other dependent members of their families, also wives of deceased members and Army nurses of the Civil War.

Encampment, the rate is one and one-half fare for the round trip.

DENIES HUGS, KISSES.

Landlord Fighting Suit Says He Didn't Call Tenant Honey.

By his answer filed yesterday to the $15,000 damage suit of Mrs. Della Matador, denying that he hugged and kissed her and called her "honey," it is evident that Oscar Le Clear is preparing to fight the sensational case.

Mrs. Matador was a tenant at the Le Clear Apartments and charged that her landlord annoyed her with his attentions while her husband was absent. She asserted that he even invaded her bedroom. She left the apartment, but when she returned for some things, she says Mr. Le Clear met her with the remark:

"Here is my own darling honey. Where have you been?"

COURT FOR POOR MAN IS SUCCESS.

Many Cases Settled in Small Claims Tribunal.

Only Three Disputes Appealed
in Thirty Days.

Suit for Debt Dropped When Man Decides to Forget.

With 212 cases filed during the first thirty days of the existence of the Small Claims Court, and the benefits and criticisms of the new institution duly weighed, it was declared yesterday by Justice Hinshaw, who handled most of the cases in the month, that the results are in favor of the "poor man's tribunal."

Of the cases filed, 129 have already been completed, thirty defendants paying claims voluntarily. In seven cases, neither the plaintiffs nor the defendants appeared and it is believed the cases were settled out of court. In some cases the money was paid in court. Three cases have been appealed so far by the defendants, this right not being permitted to the plaintiffs. Of trials that were contested, judgments were given to twenty-nine plaintiffs and to seventeen defendants.

By the rules of the court, a person may start suit for payment of money where the amount is not over $50. No charge is made for clerk and court fees. The purpose is to eliminate expenses and formalities in collecting small claims. Attorneys may not appear for either side.

Among the criticisms of the new system is that parties to suits come to court unprepared and not in a position to give a preponderance of evidence, as required in civil law. The court, it was pointed out, may make inquiries in or out of court.

Justice Baird also heard several suits in the new court. After hearing testimony yesterday in Justice Hinshaw's court in the Small Claims tribunal, against Mrs. Ellen Stone, living at the rear of 743 Towne avenue, John Ryan, former police officer, of the same address, decided to forget the debt. He sued for $120, which he said he lent to the defendant. He stated he would not have sued, except he thought she had not spoken kindly to him when he mentioned the loan. Accordingly the case was dismissed, and all parties were satisfied.

Levee Breaks as Colorado River Rises.

(BY A. P. MIGHT WIRE)
ELYTHE, Aug. 29.—A rise of three and one-half feet in the Colorado River and a break in a levee eight miles south of Hauser Bend, near here, resulted today in 100 men being put to work strengthening the Palo Verde Mutual Water Company's levee.

The rise caused discontinuance of the ferry service across the Colorado at Ehrenberg, Ariz.

ON BOOZE CHARGES.

Three Held Under Bond as Violators of National Dry Laws.

Gus Lucas, who conducts a restaurant at 620 Macy street, yesterday was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Long on the charge of having violated the Volstead Act. Miss Juanita Espalen, a waitress employed at the Lucas place, also was placed under arrest. The bond of Lucas was fixed at $1000. The girl was released on nominal bail.

The Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, whose plant is near by, has had considerable trouble on account of some of its employees drinking at the Lucas restaurant. It is said. Several accidents are laid to conditions prevailing at the place. William Dahl, who conducts a drug store at 3223 West Jefferson street, was arraigned before the commissioner on the charge of having sold alcohol which did not contain the required amount of formaldehyde. He was held in bond.

SCHOOL BONDS SOLD.

More Than Million in Securities are Disposed of by Supervisors.

More than $1,000,000 in school bonds were sold by the Board of Supervisors yesterday. Pasadena offered $750,000 bonds, which were knocked down to the joint bid of the Harris Trust and Savings Bank and Hylth, Witter & Co. at a premium of $1100. The bonds draw 5 1/2 per cent interest.

Other bonds sold were those of the Whittier school district, $150,000, 4 per cent, premium $2000, to the Citizens' National Bank; Clearwater school district, $45,000, 4 per cent, premium $400, to the Citizens' National Bank; Crescenta school district, $125,000, 4 per cent, premium $25, to the Citizens' National Bank.

PLEAD NOT GUILTY.

Eighteen Deny Milk Conspiracy;
Trial Is Set for November.

Eighteen individuals and representatives of fourteen companies, distributors of milk in Los Angeles, yesterday in Judge Reeve's court pleaded not guilty to charges of conspiracy in restraint of trade in violation of the Cartwright Act. By agreement among the fifteen attorneys representing the defendants and Dep. Dist. Atty. Powell and Van Cott, the cases were set for trial November 15. It was stated the court calendar would be cleared for action by that date. LeCompte Davis, John L. Richardson and thirteen other local attorneys represent the defense.

JURY TRIAL DEMANDED BY MARIE EDWARDS.

Marie Pinson Edwards, who several years ago was tried for the slaying of State Senator Lyon and acquitted, was held under $1500 cash bail by Police Judge Crawford yesterday when she appeared in the Police Court to answer to a charge of violating the State poison law. Mrs. Edwards was arrested three days ago by members of the narcotic squad during the course of a raid. She entered a plea of not guilty and asked for a jury trial. The case will be tried on October 13 at 10 a. m.

The "big idea" in business and the big year

The "big idea" in business is to "give something" to every customer.

That is the great big business-building idea back of this institution—giving more value for every dollar you spend, and seeing to it that you are well satisfied with every purchase. In that way we make certain your profit as well as ours.

If we give a little more value than any one else, if we give a little more attention to styles, to personal service and to customer satisfaction, everybody hears about it and everybody comes to us; it's what we all want.

During the past twelve months over 250,000 people came here to see how the big idea works—it's so big we built a bigger building to hold it. We want you to know, too, how well it works for you.

Thursday, September 1st

we will celebrate the Anniversary of this first year in the new building with many unusual prices and values in every department.

At this time a year from now we want to say that 500,000 people have been in to see how the big idea works.
